

Common estate planning best practices

Investment and Insurance Products are:

- Not Insured by the FDIC or Any Federal Government Agency
- Not a Deposit or Other Obligation of, or Guaranteed by, the Bank or Any Bank Affiliate
- Subject to Investment Risks, Including Possible Loss of the Principal Amount Invested

Avoid settlement delays

Settling any estate can be time-consuming, but an ambiguous plan can be an extra burden on loved ones.

BEST PRACTICES

- With the assistance of an experienced estate planning attorney, spell out your desires clearly and document them in writing
- Prepare for the potential of being unable to handle your own affairs
- Consider carefully who is assigned fiduciary duties, such as executor or trustee

Reduce family dynamics issues

While there is always the potential for disharmony in a family, times of crisis are especially trying.

BEST PRACTICES

- Involve your family in the estate planning process
- Discuss your planning intentions with beneficiaries and others who may be impacted
- Understand the time and skill set required of those you appoint to fiduciary roles

Help prevent unnecessary tax liability

Failure to properly structure your plan can lead to a less-than-efficient transfer of assets.

BEST PRACTICES

- Engage a well-credentialed and experienced attorney and a fiduciary to build your plan
- Compare tax outcomes from multiple scenarios
- Review your plan annually and adapt it as your circumstances change

Create a contingency plan

If you are no longer able to make decisions on your own, who will be authorized to make them for you?

BEST PRACTICES

- Talk with your estate planning attorney about naming a contingent trustee (individual or corporation) if you are incapacitated
- Choose someone you know is willing to serve and who will avoid potential conflicts of interest
- Also talk with your estate planning attorney about other advance planning tools, such as powers of attorney and health care directives
